| Methodologies | |
|---------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Methodologies | Description |
| Introductory activities | During the first class of the semester, students will complete several activities related to language and translation. These quizzes will help professors to determine each student's linguistic competence and personal interests within translation. |
| Guest lecture / keynote speech | The professors will introduce each topic with an oral exposition to discuss the most relevant theoretical concepts and their potential and factual application in practice. |
| Workshop | Students in small and medium-sized groups will be responsible to complete several supervised tasks (individual and group translation practices, presentations, debates, problem solving, etc). |
| Supervised projects | Students are required to complete several supervised activities related to translation. These activities include group and individual work, as well as classroom and homework exercises. |
| Oral presentation | Students are required to prove their oral skills with an oral presentation that will be delivered over the semester. |
| Workbook | Specific readings on translation. |
| Mixed objective/subjective test | Students will have to complete a final exam in June in order to test each student's translation competence. |

| Personalized attention | |

Assessment comments

- All essays, activities and exercises must be handed in in due time and proper form.
- Students who violate University rules on academic dishonesty (plagiarism, cheating, etc) will be subject to disciplinary penalties, including failure of that exam, activity or failure of the whole subject.
- Regular attendance and active participation is very important for the study of this subject.
- Students will be able to use the June opportunity to retake failed translations and exercises from the Spanish section. The Spanish section professors will publish equivalent translations and exercises in the Moodle platform,
- Students who do not attend the official exams will obtain a "Non Presentado" (absent from assessment) mark.
- In the July and December opportunities students will have to take the Final Exam, and they will also have to hand in all the corresponding activities from the workshop hours.
- July opportunity: In order to receive a grade for the individual and group activities done during the semester in the English part, students are required to do equivalent translation activities that must be handed in prior to the official exam date.
- July opportunity: In order to receive a grade for the translations and exercises done during the semester in the Spanish part, students are required to do equivalent exercises. The professors will offer these exercises via the Moodle platform.
- Those who are officially registered as part-time students, and have been granted permission not to attend classes, as stipulated in the regulations of this University, will be assessed in either of the opportunities according to the same criteria specified for the second opportunity.
- ADI is a university office specialised in attending to members of the university with special needs due to disability or other differentiating situations with regard to the rest of the community. Students can talk to the coordinator for more information, or contact ADI directly at <http://www.udc.es/cufie/adi/>, or by phone ext. 5622, or via email: adi@udc.es.

About plagiarism

In this subject, the Turnitin tool could be used in the evaluation of essays and activities. Based on the recommendations of the Xunta de Facultade, the following text is added for the students' consideration: Turnitin is an application for teachers to review parts of a text from other texts and indicate their origin. This tool can identify papers presented previously in this or other universities, including those written by the same student. If this circumstance occurs, it will be understood that it is contrary to academic honesty and will be applied to the academic regulations for evaluations, grades, masters, etc.
