Methodologies

Methodologies	Description
Directed discussion	The directed discussion is a tool that encourages the intervention of the students in class from a proposed topic on the subjects that are being taught as well as on other current topics. Likewise, it causes students to look for solutions quickly based on the knowledge acquired in previous sessions.
Oral presentation	The oral presentation is a technique both for the oral presentation of resolved cases and for the oral presentation of parts of the subject.
Mixed objective/subjective test	The mixed test, although it may vary from one course to another, is basically composed of test exam, but it may also include some short questions, some development questions or the resolution of practical cases.
Guest lecture / keynote speech	Master classes are developed based on theoretical sessions. Then other techniques are used, such as directed discussions or oral presentations
Supervised projects	With the preparation of work at home by the students it is expected that they acquire the technique of research and autonomous learning.

Personalized attention

Methodologies	Description
Supervised projects	Normally, for the preparation of oral presentations or continuous evaluation works, the participation of the teaching staff is important for the supervision, the resolution of doubts, the correction of the drafts, etc.
Mixed objective/subjective test	Likewise, in view of the preparation of the mixed test it is very convenient to consult teachers to ask for advice and request, if necessary, personalized attention
Oral presentation

Assessment

Assessment comments

To pass the subject it is necessary to pass the mixed test (test questions and short questions). The grade of the mixed test will be used to obtain the final grade with the other scores. Part-time students with recognized academic dispensation will perform compensatory activities, prior agreement with the professors. The rest of the assessment methods will be carried out without any adaptation.
