General description	The aim is to guide students in the practice of grounded reflection and in the discovery of new questions that allow them to objectify some of the social elements that contribute to the generalisation of the culture considered common, and thus become aware of the degree of coercion and/or consent of social relations according to the gender variable. The need to appropriate this theoretical-critical framework, of a socio-historical nature, for the design and development of truly co-educational social projects will be defended, that is, projects that provide reasons for the urgent need to incorporate feminist knowledge into professional practice and also into everyday life, and thus contribute to reducing the different gender cleavages and to moving towards more inclusive and fairer societies The principle of democratic debate will be upheld in the classes, listening to and respecting all the different opinions on the subjects dealt with, both from the teaching staff and the students.

Contingency plan	Contingency plan (adapted from addendum Covid19): 1. Modifications to content: no changes will be made. 2. Teaching methodologies that will be maintained: <ul style="list-style-type: none">-Analysis of documentary sources-Guided discussion-Lectures-Student portfolios-Initial activities- Personalised attention Teaching methodologies to be modified: no changes will be made. 3. Mechanisms for personalised attention to students: <ul style="list-style-type: none">E-mail: To be used to make queries, request virtual meetings to resolve doubts and follow up the exercises in the classes and the portfolio.- Virtual Campus: According to the needs of the student. They have "thematic forums associated with the modules" of the subject, to make the necessary queries. There are also specific activity forums", through which the development of theoretical contents of the subject are put into practice.- Teams:<ul style="list-style-type: none">A) weekly session in a large group to advance the contents and activities in the time slot assigned to the subject in the class calendar approved by the academic committee of the master's degree and approved by the Xunta de Facultad (planned for on-site students).B) From 1 to 2 weekly sessions (or more depending on student demand) in small groups for monitoring and support in carrying out the activities. This dynamic allows for a standardised and adjusted follow-up of the students' learning needs in order to develop the subject (planned for on-site students). 4. Modifications in the evaluation: no changes will be made. Observations: la) The presence of the students will only be controlled in the classes of the subject through the realization of the activities. Students will be considered to be in attendance as long as they attend the classes; they can only be absent three times (without justification). Students may present excuses for missing class, provided they are medical, work, hospitalisation, etc. but they must be approved (they cannot be, for example, a request for a doctor's appointment, etc.). The main resource to be used for the control of the student's attendance will be the Virtual Campus, where the activities will be carried out. b) Non-attendance students and online students can follow the subject through the Virtual Campus, although they will not be able to participate in the activities (activities are developed for this type of students) nor will they be called by TEAMS for the classes. Students who, given a new situation of confinement, have chosen this option (on the first day of class) or who have already exceeded three absences in total (or in any of the parts of the subject) will be considered non-attendance students; in this last option the students will automatically pass to this modality (ONLINE STUDENT). The evaluation of these students will be maintained as stated in the Teaching Guide, in the specific section "observations". Online students will be those who choose this option when registering for the subject. c) The classes maintain the format of working groups that had been specified in the teaching guide, whether we are in the face-to-face or virtual modality. The working groups will be created by TEAMS, which will be the means through which the activities will be monitored by the teaching staff (these classes will always be in the timetable approved by the academic committee of the master's degree and approved by the Xunta de Facultad). Only for face-to-face students. d) The evaluation of the subject will be virtual (due to health circumstances) and the same weighting of qualifications will be maintained, regardless of the teaching modality. It will be as follows: activities will be within each class (in this case, at the end of the class via moodle). The activities will not be enabled until the classes start; this material will be presented in the portfolio and will be uploaded in the Virtual Campus on the date established by the teaching staff on the first day of the class. It is important to remember that the on-site student must present each of the forms of evaluation in order to pass the subject, and that is to say, he/she must do all the activities planned by the teaching staff for each module within the portfolio. Non-attendance and online students will only have to complete the portfolio and the activities planned by the lecturers in charge of each module (these students must communicate with the lecturers in charge of each module during

the first classes).

g) Tutorials will be individual and virtual. Students must request an appointment with the teacher via email. VERY IMPORTANT, THE TUTORIALS WILL ALWAYS BE WITHIN THE SCHEDULE PRESENTED BY THE TEACHING PROFESSOR THAT TEACHES THE SUBJECT.

5. Modifications to the bibliography or webgraphy: no changes will be made. All work materials are already available digitally on the Virtual Campus.

Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Document analysis	The object of the documentary analysis is the educational and vocational guidance programmes and actions aimed at different groups and contexts.
Directed discussion	After reading and analysing a current scientific text, a discussion will be held on the different argumentative perspectives. This methodology will only be used by on-site students.
Guest lecture / keynote speech	The master class will be used for the presentation of some of the contents. Previously, in order to make it easier to follow, a power point presentation will be provided through the Virtual Campus. If the classes, due to the sanitary crisis, are virtual, these presentations will be exposed in the Virtual Campus and with power point with recorded voice. This methodology is only for face-to-face students.
Student portfolio	On-site, off-site and online students must submit the portfolio in which they must collect the activities proposed by the teaching staff of the subject. The portfolio will be delivered through the Virtual Campus and on the dates specified for the first or second opportunity. Non-attendance and ONLINE students should contact the heads of each module.
Introductory activities	The initial activities help to identify the students' prior knowledge of the topics addressed and the areas of co-educational intervention of interest to them. Only for face-to-face students.

Personalized attention
Methodologies	Description

Document analysis	In the personalised attention, the teachers will resolve any doubts the students may have about the different topics to be worked on in the subject. During these sessions, students' work will be monitored, supervising and guiding more directly the process to be followed in each of the activities carried out.
Introductory activities
Directed discussion
Student portfolio	This personalised attention will take place in the teacher's office during the tutoring timetable (due to the health crisis situation, it can be by Teams if the teacher considers it necessary). This timetable is posted on the Virtual Campus PERSONALISED ATTENTION WILL BE CARRIED OUT VIS A VIS BETWEEN STUDENT AND TEACHER. THIS ATTENTION MUST BE INDIVIDUAL (IN ORDER TO COMPLY WITH THE RECOMMENDATIONS ORIGINATED BY COVID-19, it can also be via Teams). THEY CAN BE IN GROUPS BUT THROUGH TEAMS (these for face-to-face student body) IN ORDER TO BE ABLE TO ORGANISE THIS ATTENTION. STUDENTS MUST FIRST COMMUNICATE WITH THE TEACHER VIA EMAIL (IN THAT EMAIL THE STUDENT WILL REQUEST INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP TUTORING). REMEMBER THAT THE TEACHER IS THE ONE WHO WILL SET THE SCHEDULE FOR THAT TUTORIAL. IF THE STUDENT

The non face-to-face students had submitted a portfolio agreed with the activities indicated by each lecturer who teaches each module (they should contact the same. A section and Virtual Campus will be enabled) and the online students will present a portfolio with the activities indicated by the teaching staff (a section will be enabled in the Virtual Campus). In order to pass the subject, all students must have passed all the activities of each module (if any module is failed, the portfolio will be failed, whether the student is on-site, online or off-site). The weighting in the final qualification of each module is as follows: -15% o módulo I (tema 1 e 2) -30% o módulo II (tema 3 e 4) - 10% para o módulo III (tema 5) -45% para o módulo IV (tema 6)	100

Assessment comments

In the evaluation of the subject (set out in the section of the teaching guide, called "Step 7: Evaluation") the following will be taken into account first of all:

a) STUDENTS WHO ALWAYS ATTEND CLASSES (or students with academic dispensation) (on-site students) are considered to attend 80%, this is equivalent to not having more than 3 unexcused absences. Medical absences are excused (with a correctly covered receipt from a registered doctor) and absences due to work (with a correctly covered receipt in the work where it is justified that the student is working during class hours) or any other absence, always with the approved documentation. Class attendance will be counted by the teaching staff in person, only virtually through the Virtual Campus due to the health crisis. No more than two absences will be allowed in each of the modules. The evaluation of these students will only take into account the portfolio.

Explanatory note: These students will remain face-to-face (in the same circumstances or lose this category) if, due to the health crisis, the classes are virtual. For the link, the teaching staff will set up the group in teams and they will have classes in the same timetable that was approved by the faculty board. The evaluation, in these circumstances (health crisis), will always be by portfolio.

b) STUDENTS WHO DO NOT ALWAYS ATTEND CLASSES (non-attendance students) OR ONLINE STUDENTS are considered to be absent when they miss more than 80% of classes, i.e. they have more than three unexcused absences, or they have more than two absences in one of the parts of the subject (techniques for collecting and/or analysing information). Medical absences are excused (with a correctly covered excuse from a registered doctor) and absences due to work (with a correctly covered excuse in the work where it is justified that the student is working during class hours), although in no case will these excuses imply the possibility of carrying out the activities of the classes after the deadline. It can also be those students who choose to do so from the beginning of the course, as they opt for the online form when registering. These students will present a specific portfolio that will be explained in each module of the subject. At the beginning of the course, these students must contact individually with the lecturers responsible for each module.

VERY IMPORTANT NOTE

The principle of democratic debate will be upheld in the classes, listening to and respecting all the different opinions on the subjects dealt with, both from the teaching staff and the students.
