Personalized attention
Methodologies	Description

Case study

Personalized attention (individual and small group tutoring) will be delivered via Teams, following an email/Moodle request.

Personalized attention will be provided in order to solve for specific questions about course contents, to recommend additional sources of information in order to enhance case preparation, and to follow up on the group practical assignments.

Furthermore, the seminars may be used by students to discuss relevant questions individually, beyond collaborative learning.

The cases and other learning materials required to facilitate students' follow up of theoretical and interactive sessions and the course calendar will be detailed/uploaded in the virtual platform of the UDC whenever possible. Materials will be discussed in the classroom in an interactive way. Practical assignments will be assigned to student groups so that they are firstly presented in the classroom by the responsible group, and then discussed with all students attending the course. It is strongly recommended that all students prepare the materials in advance and participate in the session, sharing their individual questions and learning.

Furthermore it is strongly recommended that students utilize tutoring hours in order to solve their questions about the assignments that are subject to continuous evaluation in a personalized way. The main goal of the personalized attention consists of solving questions about preparation of team projects and case studies.

		Individual participation in seminars, lectures and sessions (up to a maximum of 10% of the final grade) may be evaluated through control of attendance and/or participation, randomly or not, and/or through the development of specific supervised assignments.
Multiple-choice	A8 B10	A multiple-choice type of test exam, that may be administered via Campus Virtual in	60 questions		the classroom, where only one option is correct, will be taken. Wrong answers entail a penalty of one third of the value of correct ones. It is strictly necessary to pass the exam (with a grade equal or superior to 5,00 in a 0-10 grading system) in order to pass the course.
		All materials and contents listed in the Virtual Campus and/or addressed in the classroom, both face-to-face and virtually, either through the lectures or in the interactive sessions (be them teaching case discussions, plenary or team-based, or seminars), including the discussion of individual assignments or in the presentation of group assignments, are subject to be asked about in the exam.
		It is important that students prepare individually for the exam utilizing all materials available in the virtual platform (visual aids, individual and team readings and multimedia materials), plus the notes they took in the classroom, in order to better understand the real examples used to illustrate course contents and to develop their own critical thinking and professional criteria.
		It is key that students complement these materials with the individual revision of suggested readings, in order to clarify any remaining question.
