Assessment comments

Students without an academic exemption must complete the questionnaires related to each and every one of the program's subjects, as well as all the activities that the teachers schedule for the classes, including compulsory review of a book indicated below.. These works will be evaluated continuously and will have a weight in the overall score of 60%. It will be an indispensable requirement to be evaluated the regular attendance (at least 75% of attendance accredited by signature sheet), with active participation and use, to the lecture sessions and in particular, to the possible seminars organized by the coordinators of the subject and the Degree. These students will also have to take an official exam, whose weight in the global evaluation will be 40%. Both in the first opportunity and in the second opportunity, to be qualified, the students must have delivered each and every one of the compulsory questionnaires of the subject. The grades of the work that the students have passed in the first opportunity will be maintained for the second opportunity and will be added to the qualifications obtained in this one. In the second opportunity the delivery of additional class activities will not be required. In the second opportunity, it will be obligatory also the accomplishment of an official examination. In all matters relating to students with academic dispensation, this guide will be ruled by the specific regulations established at each moment by the UDC and by the specific standards or criteria that the Faculty of Humanities and Documentation may also have established.
