| Methodologies | |
|--------------------------------|---|
| Methodologies | Description |
| Guest lecture / keynote speech | Presentation, development and analysis of theoretical and fundamental procedural contents so that the students reach the competences and skills expected in the seminar. |
| Directed discussion | Presentation by the professor or by the students of a series of theoretical-practical cases for their joint and collaborative analysis throughout the face-to-face sessions. |
| Supervised projects | Approach of bibliographic materials on the subjects under study (in accordance with the planning carried out by the professor at the beginning of the seminar). |
| Workbook | Realization and analytical study of a series of readings previously selected by the teacher directly related to the contents addressed in the seminar. |
| ICT practicals | Presentation and proof of the application of ICT to the study of literary and cultural criticism. |
| Seminar | Group work from the oral presentation to the whole of the class of the results of the supervised works and / or of some reading of those attributed by the teacher at the beginning of the sessions. During the seminars, the students will use the necessary technological resources and will demonstrate the assumption and practical application of the contents, skills and competences addressed during the seminar. |

| Personalized attention | |
| Methodologies | Description |
| Supervised projects Workbook Seminar | In addition to the accompaniment work done in the tutoring schedule marked by the teacher responsible for the subject, personalized attention will be directed especially (not only) to support the completion of the Tutored Works, Readings and Seminars. In general, it is recommended that each student attend at least one tutorial prior to the exhibition of the attributed readings. In order to carry out the planned activities and in order to obtain adequate guidance, it is essential that the students communicate their progress and possible difficulties in a fluid and frequent manner. In addition, each student will be able to make all kinds of consultations in relation to the development of the subject, either in the tutoring schedule or through the e-mail. This personalized attention is also contemplated for part-time students with recognized academic dispensation, as well as for students enrolled to be examined in the December session. |

| Assessment | | | |
|---------------------|------------------------|---|---------------|
| Methodologies | Competencies / Results | Description | Qualification |
| Supervised projects | A14 B4 C2 C6 C8 | The contents and results of the teaching-learning process will be evaluated in relation to the achievement of the objectives sought in the subject. It will also be considered in the evaluation the linguistic quality, the capacity for autonomous learning and / or teamwork, the analytical and critical capacity, and the adaptation to the objectives formulated by the teacher for this activity. | 60 |
| Workbook | A13 A5 A9 | In addition to the possible oral presentation of some of the proposed readings, the level of analysis and comprehension of the remaining readings demonstrated in the course of the other presentations, in the directed discussions and in the seminars will be evaluated. | 25 |
| Seminar | A12 C7 | The comprehension and mastery of the contents presented and commented will be fundamentally evaluated, as well as the usefulness of the discourse for the purposes of the subject. It will also take into account the linguistic quality, the organization and the expository sequence, the clarity and precision in the interventions, the interaction with the audience, the use of the time available and the possible elaboration and use of technological resources. | 15 |

Assessment comments

The evaluation of the seminar will be done continuously. In it will be taken into account not only the sections referred to in the corresponding place but also, in a transversal way, the linguistic, argumentative and collaborative learning skills demonstrated throughout the teaching-learning process.

In

this sense, all activities or tests must meet minimum linguistic correction requirements (spelling, punctuation, syntactic agreement, absence of repetitions, lexical precision, formal registration ...); in the case of linguistic-expressive deficiencies, these may be penalized in the qualification according to the criteria that will be published in the Moodle platform at the start of the course. The papers submitted by the students may be incorporated into Turnitin, a tool for the detection of plagiarism as well as works previously presented at this or other universities, including by the same student. In the event of any of these circumstances, the measures contemplated in the Rules of evaluation, review and claims of the qualifications of the undergraduate and master's degree studies of the University of A Coruña may be applied (article 14.4).

All

activities must be done and delivered in accordance with the deadlines and procedures set in the schedule that the teacher will give the students at the beginning of the sessions and will hang in Moodle. Activities delivered after the deadline will not be evaluated.

Part-time

students or students with academic dispensation will make or deliver the activities indicated on the date previously agreed with the teacher.

These

students must complete and deliver the same activities as the rest and, if they can not attend the tutorials, they must contact the teacher via email at the start of the course. Students who certify that they can not attend classes should also contact the seminar professor.

Students

who attend the advanced call in December must first contact the teacher responsible for the seminar and, in order to overcome it, they will have to carry out the supervised works (5 points) and readings (5 points) that will be entrusted to them.

If

there are specific evaluation criteria for any of the proposed tasks, these will be made public through the Moodle and / or will be presented in class. The teachers will give the appropriate instructions for the correct development of each of the planned activities.

Those who do not pass the seminar with the continuous evaluation must participate in the July opportunity. In order to pass the subject in this second opportunity, the students must satisfactorily complete all those tasks not overcome in the previous opportunity along with those other works that are requested.

Any student who does not present any of the activities foreseen in this guide will be considered not submitted.
