General description	-This is a core subject in the Degree in Economics, and hence it will require a sound command of the topics that will be covered during the course. -The aim of this subject is to study, at an introductory level, different topics about the consumer's behaviour, the theory of the firm and the competitive markets. All the analyses will be presented in terms of both simple mathematical models and graphic representations. The topics covered in this course will be studied in depth in subsequent intermediate and advanced courses.

Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Guest lecture / keynote speech	Lectures with media support, that may be completed with the introduction of questions to students to boost interactive learning and improve the knowledge transmission
Problem solving	Practical issues to solve in interactive sessions
Case study	The student is faced to a particular problem (the case) that describes a real or supposed professional situation and he (she) must be able to analyze and solve it.
Seminar	Group Mentoring: The whole group is divided in two subgroups (the half of the students in each one -about 15 students each-) and there will be four mentoring group hours for each subgroup along the course.
Directed discussion	Theoretical and practical issues to resolve in interactive sessions
Mixed objective/subjective test	Written test that may combine multiple choice questions, sorting, short-answer and / or discrimination

Personalized attention
Methodologies	Description
Problem solving	The interactive sessions are designed to work the students in order to monitor their performance.
Case study
Directed discussion	The Small Group Office hours (TGR), which can be taught in person or online, will be divided into 2 sessions of 2 hours, and it is expected that their programming period will take place around weeks 7 and 13 of the semester.

Assessment
Methodologies	Competencies	Description	Qualification

Problem solving	A5 A9 A12 B2	Assessment of the answers provided by the students to the different problems sets proposed by the professor. Written tests, face-to-face or online, may be proposed, and they would be part of the Continuous Assessment activities.	10
Case study	A6 A10 B3 C3	Assessment of the solutions provided by the students to the different case studies proposed by the professor. Written tests, face-to-face or online, may be proposed, and they would be part of the Continuous Assessment activities.	10
Mixed objective/subjective test	C5 C7	Assessment of the answers to an objective test that will consist of different types of questions about the topics covered throughout the whole course, and that it will take place in the (first) official opportunity.	70
Directed discussion	A13 B9	Assessment of the arguments provided by the students to the different scenarios related to the Microeconomic Theory proposed by the professor. Written tests, face-to-face or online, may be proposed, and they would be part of the Continuous Assessment activities.	10

Assessment comments

ASSESSMENT REGULATION:

1. Unless something different is formally mentioned by the professors of the course, it is completely forbidden to attend the assessment activities with any device that allows the student either to communicate with people outside the room, or to store pieces of information. During the exams the mobiles must be switched off at all times.
2. Every student must prove her/his identity in accordance with the current regulation.

ASSESSMENT:

1. Attendance is compulsory for all the assessment activities of the course.
2. In order to pass the subject any student must obtain a Final Mark (FM) of, at least, 5 points out of a maximum of 10.
3. The Final Exams (FE) will be graded over 10 points, being compulsory to get, at least, 5 points to pass the subject. The Final Mark will be given by the formula $FM=CA+FE(10-CA)/10$, where CA stands for the different Continuous Assessment activities that will take place during the course. These activities weight 30% of the Final Mark, and hence they will be graded over 3 points.
4. Any student who does not take part in at least 20% of the Continuous Assessment activities will get the "No Presentado" final mark.
5. The part time students and to those who have the "dispensa académica de exención de asistencia" according to the UDC's regulation will have the chance to complete the continuous assessment, after adapting these activities to their specific situation.

ASSESSMENT OPPORTUNITIES:

The same assessment criterion will be applied to the two official opportunities, and to the "early opportunity" as well.

OTHER EVALUATION OBSERVATIONS:

Detection of fraud: whether plagiarism or any other action, will result in a final grade of 0 points. Fail grade in the call in which the offense is committed and with respect to the subject in which it was committed: the student will be qualified with ?fail? (in Spanish, ?suspenso?) (numerical grade 0) in the corresponding call of the academic year, whether the commission of the offense occurs on the first opportunity or on the second. To do this, the grade will be modified in the first opportunity record, if necessary.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Students are encouraged to attend the lectures and to show an important level of participation. We strongly recommend the use of the textbooks listed in the "sources of information" section. Additionally, students must try to solve the problem sets when they are published.

Other comments

Students are encouraged to attend the lectures and to show an important level of participation. We strongly recommend the use of the textbooks listed in the "sources of information" section. Additionally, students must try to solve the problem sets when they are published. Additionally:
1. The delivery of the documentary works that are done in this subject:
a. They will be requested in virtual format and / or in computer support.
b. It will be done through Moodle or TEAMS, in digital format and without needing to print them.
2. The importance of the ethical principles related to the values of sustainability in personal and professional behaviors must be taken into account.
3. Students will work to identify and modify prejudices and sexist attitudes, and they will influence the environment to modify them and promote values of respect and equality.
4. The full integration of students that, for physical, sensory, psychological or socio-cultural reasons experience difficulties to adequate, equal and profitable access to university life will be facilitated.
