Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Supervised projects	The supervised work may have a theoretical approach or a practical approach, depending on the student's interests and the nature of the work. Depending on the complexity of the work, it will be decided whether it is carried out and presented individually or in groups. All teaching hours are in person.

Case study	Following the instructions of the problem solving methodology. Exercises, small assignments or practical cases will be formulated to be carried out in small groups of students (collaborative work) whose resolution will be presented orally. All teaching hours are in person.
Aprendizaxe servizo	Service-Learning (Learning-Service) is an educational proposal that combines learning processes and community service in a single well-articulated project where participants learn to work on real needs in the environment with the aim of improving it. All teaching hours are in person.
Objective test	1. It consists of a theoretical-practical examination of the contents of the subject. The exam may contain short questions, essay questions, questions about practical cases, multiple choice questions (true/false), multiple choice questions or a combination of the aforementioned types. 2. The exam may be oral or written, in person or virtual. 3. They will be held on the dates, times and classrooms (if in person) that the Dean's Office has officially established.
Short answer questions	1. There may be several throughout the course. They consist of an exam on a part of the subject and can be short answers, test type (true/false), multiple response, questions to be developed and questions about practical assumptions or a combination of them. 2.- They can be in person during class hours or online.
Guest lecture / keynote speech	1.- Presentation of the basic theoretical/practical concepts and content necessary for students to find solutions to the problems addressed in the program. 2.- The time dedicated to each of the topics into which the subject is divided will be proportional to the degree of difficulty of each of them. To prepare the chapters that are less difficult to understand, the student may be referred to the bibliography, although in that case the classes will guide them on which specific sources are recommended to be used. All teaching hours are in person.

Personalized attention

Methodologies	Description
Aprendizaxe servizo Supervised projects Case study	Ever the student may intervene, upon request to speak, to ask, clarify or express his or her point of view on the topic being discussed at the time of his intervention. - Likewise, students will be able to contact the Professor by appointment to carry out virtual tutorials in all cases and even more so when it comes to Service Learning.

Assessment comments

1.- Second opportunity: A mixed test will be carried out in order to evaluate all the competencies and contents of the subject. The result obtained in this test will coincide with the final grade obtained by the student (100%)

2.- Advance exam Only in this case will a mixed test be carried out in order to evaluate all the competencies and contents of the subject. The result obtained in said test will coincide with the final grade obtained by the student.

3.- Qualification of not presented: It is up to the students: A) Only participate in evaluation activities that have a weight of less than 20% on the final grade, regardless of the grade obtained. B) Not appearing for the tests of the official evaluation period set by the dean's office.

4.- Students enrolled part-time and with ?academic attendance exemption?: They will have to communicate it to the teachers, before September 30. The same criteria will be followed as those used in the evaluation of the first opportunity, with the exception of the continuous evaluation: it is added in a single oral test that was carried out on the same date as the exam of the official evaluation period. A specific calendar of personalized attention compatible with the work plan of the subject and with its dedication will be agreed upon at the beginning of the course.

5.- Conditions for taking exams/tests: 1. It is prohibited to access the examination room with any device that allows communication with the outside world and/or the storage of information (except for those indicated by the teaching team). 2. Students will prove their identity in accordance with current regulations. 3. The fraudulent performance of tests or evaluation activities, once proven, will directly imply the qualification of suspension in the call in which it is committed: the student will be graded with "suspension" (numerical grade 0) in the corresponding call of the year. academic, whether the infraction is committed at the first opportunity or the second. To do this, it will proceed to modify its qualification at the first opportunity, if necessary. 4. The scoring criteria for each test will be announced at the time of its completion. 5. In exams/tests, if there are multiple choice questions, those answered incorrectly may be scored negative.
