General description	The study of the world economy is based on the identification of the main elements that both define and identify the socioeconomic reality that we aim to analyze. The international economy is thought as an interdependent system in which the main dynamism arises from the capitalistic center although its effects are quickly spread today all over the world. Therefore, we must begin identifying the structural features of capitalism and defining their international economic relations and conceptualizing the development of these relations. Once this step is taken and since the economic reality under study is composed of innumerable facts, objects and relationships, some prior selection criteria is required. Hence, the analysis begins with the developed capitalist economies, then focus on the periphery of the system and subsequently extended itself to the field of international economic relations

Assessment
Methodologies	Competencies	Description	Qualification
Supervised projects	A3 A2 B7	Course work corresponding to continuous assessments: part of quantitative analysis, explanation of the methodology used, development of the topic and bibliography used. These projects will be tutorized by the teacher before the oral presentation	15
Mixed objective/subjective test	A9 A12 C1 C3	The mixed test corresponds to the final written exam to evaluate the level of knowledge that the student has acquired at the end of the course. Optionally, between teacher and the students, this test can be substituted by two eliminatory test, the sum of both being 60% of the total score	60
Oral presentation	A12 C1	Continuous assessment: part of the course work corresponding to the oral presentations. This grade is individual per student	15
Directed discussion	C3 C4	Participation in the debates, reasoned arguments in the discussion, use of economic language, comments on the readings and class participation	10

Assessment comments

This course is structured to help (and oblige) the student to be up to date with work. The final exam represents 60% of the total grade, the projects, 30%, and other in-class activities and participation (10%). The continuous assessment is fundamental to pass the course.

In order to pass the course, it is necessary to obtain a minimum of 5 points out of 10 (as the total grade) and a minimum of 4 points out of 10 in the final exam.

The same grading criteria will be applied in the first opportunity and in the second opportunity.

The student is considered within the general ongoing assessment if he/she presents over 20% of total practice. Conditions of conducting the final assessment: It is prohibited to access the classroom exam with any device which allows communication with external and/or storage of information.

Advance opportunity: Being a first semester course, the conditions will be the same as for the rest of the courses (40% continuous evaluation + 60% written).

Students with recognition of part-time dedication or academic exemption of attendance exemption:

They may do the work individually. Personalized tutoring will be mutually agreed teacher-student.
