Assessment comments

1. Non-presented grade: it is assigned to a student when he/she participated in lower than 20% of assessment activities, regardless of obtained grade.

2. Second opportunity and advanced opportunity: In the second opportunity, students who failed in the first opportunity, will be able to develop continuous assessment activities.

For it, they will put in contact with his/her lecturer far enough in advance in order to plan the development of these activities.

In the advanced opportunity, the evaluation system of the first opportunity will be maintained, although the class attendance requirement will not be considered.

3. Students with recognition of part-time and academic dispensation of attended exemption: Both part-time and full-time students will have the same evaluation system.

4. About the conditions of final evaluation: It is recalled that any student stuned when he/she is doing continuous assessment activities and/or examen by means of any fraudulent procedure, the grade of zero will be assigned in such activity (in all opportunities).

5. Student's identification: student has to prove his/her personality according to the current regulation.

6. Other

evaluation observations: Lecturers will make available students the norms for the development of the activities proposed in the present teaching guide. If a student does not attend at least 70% of the classes, the continuous assessment activities will not be able to be evaluated. To pass the subject, the final weighted average grade must be equal to or greater than 5 points out of 10, but it is an essential requirement to obtain 4 points out of 10 in the objective test. If this minimum is not reached in such as test, the subject will be suspended. It is considered that a student is within the continuous evaluation and, therefore, the previous evaluation scheme will be applied to him/her, if he/she completed more than 20% of the works of the subject. If such as student does not appear for the objective test, he/she will not be able to pass the subject, since he/she does not meet the minimum grade required in it. In this case, he/she will not have a score higher than 4.9 points in the acts, and he/she will not pass the subject. Small groups tutorials will be developed by Teams. The dates and times will be communicated by the professors along the course.
