Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Guest lecture / keynote speech	Explanation of the contents that make up the theoretical framework of matter by oral exposure, led to the use of presentations, through media and with the introduction of issues aimed at students in order to promote their learning. Regular attendance in class will be assessed to the grade for the course.
Workbook	A case study will be provided to each group shall solving throughout the academic year. It will monitor the work according to a plan of tutorials. The group will make a presentation at the end of the course and resolve questions put to them about the same (see following methodology)
Oral presentation	The group of students designed by the professor should make an oral presentation of the corresponding marketing case and/or the complementary activities, as well as answer the questions raised to the group members
Events academic / information	Students can assist to conferences, seminars in order to know real market cases. These activities will be organised by the teachers of the area of Marketing.
Multiple-choice questions	Multiple choice test. Each question answered wrong reduces the final score of the test (three questions with a wrong answer, would remove one right answer), and students are not allowed to leave questions with no answer.

Personalized attention
Methodologies	Description
Oral presentation Guest lecture / keynote speech Workbook	Case study and oral presentation: The members of the team must defend the case study in the two last weeks of the semester. Also, if you have any questions concerning the material discussed in class, you can consult with the teacher in his office or schedule another time to answer questions and facilitate the monitoring of student

Assessment
Methodologies	Competencies / Results	Description	Qualification

Multiple-choice questions	A1	Multiple choice test exam (provided four options for each question). This multiple choice test does require a minimum or threshold puntuation in order to approve the course. Independently of the final score in the test exam, if the student did not reach the minimum puntuation of 5 out of 10, the course would be considered as not approved. Class attendance will give an extra 0,5 points puntuation on the final score, provided that the student reaches the threshold of 4,5 point out of 10, as long as the student does not have two absences from theoretical classes, plus two absences in practical classes. In the case that the student fails the test exam; and in turn, the course is not approved, the final grade would be calculated as the puntuation in the test weighted to the 60%	60
Workbook	A6 A8 A11	The working group should make a presentation of the Case Study and solve questions/exercise made in class. The possibility to make the defense will depend on the final number of small working groups.	40
