Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Introductory activities	Introductory sessions, where activities aim to obtain information about students' level of competence, in order to advance in agreement with their expectations and requirements.
Guest lecture / keynote speech	Lecture mode, accompanied by audiovisual materials, with the aim of increasing students' knowledge of the English language and the topics covered.
Directed discussion	Discussion in pairs and small groups, monitored by the teacher, in which students' skills are put into practice, whereby informal, spontaneous conversations and debates can take place.
Speaking test	A test in which communicative competence is assessed, within the context of an individual or pair interview which takes place with one or both of the teachers.
Seminar	Practical sessions where the four basic communicative skills are developed, with regard to topics contained in the programme or others that may arise.
Objective test	Written examination. This allows teachers to assess the knowledge and linguistic skills acquired, developed and improved during the course. This may include several types of questions: essays, multiple choice, gap-filling, transformation and other exercises, and a listening test. It will be almost exclusively based on materials covered in the course of the classes.
Oral presentation	This is a presentation in front of the class (medium size DI class) involving a topic for argument or controversy chosen by the student her/himself. Students should come to some conclusion after considering and explaining the main points. They should use PowerPoint or similar to back up their arguments.
Student portfolio	Students should keep, register and arrange materials, which are the result of lectures and other activities, with their own comments and grades assigned to them, so that they can follow their own development. It should include their compositions together with the comments and corrections made by teachers. Also any other research and work carried out by themselves independently.

Personalized attention
Methodologies	Description
Student portfolio	Both teachers will assess compositions during the course. Those set by Alan Floyd will take place in class time (provided the sanitary conditions allow it). Students should take into account the corrections and comments made and apply them in future work done. They should consult with teachers concerning errors and necessary improvements to be made, and make use of self-study time to apply corrections made. All students should make use of teachers' office hours, which are there for the purpose of individual monitoring of progress. In the event that they cannot do so, they should use the channels available online.

Assessment
Methodologies	Competencies	Description	Qualification
Objective test	C4 C2	An objective test based on materials covered in class, further reading and assignments required by both teachers. Includes various sorts of exercises.	35
Student portfolio	A1 A9 A15 A20 B1 B3 B5	Written compositions will be assessed. The characteristics of each will be explained by the teacher(s) involved.	20
Seminar	A6 B6	Students will be assessed according to their attendance (5%) and participation (5%) = 10%. (see contingency plan for exceptional situations)	10

Oral presentation	A6 A9 B4 B6 B10 C2	Students will talk about a topic chosen by her/himself, where there is an element of controversy involved. It should be based on a text, taken from a magazine, newspaper, website, etc, where a point of view is expressed, and the student should include and argue his/her own point of view on the topic. This test is individual or in pairs, and should be performed without notes. Students should make use of a PowerPoint or other presentation, but this should only be consulted, not read in its entirety. Details can be found in the course programme available on Moodle.	20
Speaking test	A6 C2	All students will perform a speaking test at the end of the four-month period, individually or in pairs, in which they must display communicative competence in the English language. Students will be assessed on their ability to make themselves understood, their coherence, fluency, pronunciation and also their lexical and grammatical complexity and correctness.	15

Assessment comments

Teachers have access to the software "Turnitin", useful for detecting plagiarism in work realised outside the classroom.

IMPORTANT: In order to pass this subject, a minimum of 5 out of 10 is required. A score of 4 out of ten is the minimum required in the written examination. Those students who do not attend the written exams will be given a grade of NP (absent).

In the event of face-to-face teaching being made impossible, students should consult the section "Contingency plan" at the beginning of this teaching guide, both for first and second opportunity exams.SECOND OPPORTUNITY ASSESSMENT: Students who fail or who do not attend the first opportunity exam will need to attend the second opportunity test, where the assessment criteria will be the following: Student portfolio (20%), Objective test (25%), Oral summary of a story in English, taken from the book by Roald Dahl ?Collected Short Stories of Roald Dahl Vol 2? (10%) The story for the 2020 2021 course is ?Lamb to the Slaughter", Oral presentation (25%), Speaking test (20%).

You can find Roald Dahl's ?Collected Short Stories of Roald Dahl Vol 2? on any of the following links, from which it can be legally downloaded:

<https://epdf.pub/the-collected-short-stories-of-roald-dahl-volume-2.html>http://ebooks.rahnuma.org/1508584978-Roald.Dahl_The-Collected-Short%20Stories-Volume2.pdf.html

https://royallib.com/read/Dahl_Roald/The_Collected_Short_Stories_of_Roald_Dahl_Volume_2.html#0Those students who have passed part of the subject in the first opportunity session will NOT be required to repeat that part in July.

Students sitting the December exam (final exam brought forward) will be assessed according to the criteria specified for the July opportunity.SPECIAL DISPENSATIONS: Those who have a special dispensation for part-time study according to the norms established by the University of A Coruña, will be required to fulfil the same requirements as those of the July session.
