General description	This course aims to provide a detailed survey of topics in modern English grammar from a descriptive and practical point of view. We will focus mainly on the syntactic analysis of grammatical categories, although other approaches to the study of English (discourse or textual analysis, for instance) will not be disregarded. Students will also be trained in the use of grammatical structures at an advanced level, since an understanding of the mechanics of language is no substitute for active use and control of the language itself. Desired learning outcome for linguistic competence: C1, and some skills of C2.

Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Guest lecture / keynote speech	Oral presentation offered by the lecturer, using audiovisual material ? if necessary? and encouraging student interaction. It is aimed at transmitting knowledge and promoting learning.
Workshop	Applied learning situation incorporating a range of supervised learning and testing techniques (presentation, simulation, debate, problem-solving, guided practice, etc.) with a strongly practical focus, under the guidance of the teacher.
Workbook	Compilation of printed texts and written documents, collected and edited, as a tool to prepare and consolidate the contents and competences of the course.
Document analysis	Research skills development involving use of audiovisual and/or bibliographical documents (relating to a specific topic of study, with targeted analysis activities). It can be used as an introduction to the topic, as the focus for a case study, to explain abstract processes and present complex situations, or as a strategy for synthesising content (theoretical and practical).
Supervised projects	Students will have to submit a written paper. The objectives, characteristics, supporting material and format of presentation of the paper will be explained at the beginning of the course. The work will be carried out under the supervision and guidance of the lecturer.
Student portfolio	It will contain small assignments on the contents presented in the lectures and practised in the DI groups. They may also be related to the recommended readings.
Mixed objective/subjective test	A mixed test consisting of essay-type and objective test questions. Essay section consists of open (extended answer) questions; the objective part of the test may contain multiple-choice, ordering and sequencing, short answer, binary, completion and/or multiple-matching questions, etc. This mixed test will be done on the official date for the final exam if the students have not passed the two partial tests throughout the course.

Methodologies	Description
Supervised projects Workshop	Throughout the semester, students are strongly advised to inform the lecturer about their progress on the supervised projects and on the course in general, either during office hours or by e-mail.

Assessment comments

IMPORTANT:

In order to pass this course, a minimum of 5 out of 10 in the final mark is required. A score of 4 out of 10 is the minimum required in each of the following parts of the course: a) supervised project and b) final mixed test.

Any academic dishonesty (plagiarism, cheating in exams, unacceptable use of AI, etc.) will be penalised with the mark of 0 (SUSPENSO) in both the first and the second opportunities, in accordance with the provisions of the "Regulamento disciplinar do estudantado da UDC" (article 11 4b). To detect plagiarism, the application Turnitin could be used. This application recognises papers previously turned in by other people (or the student him/herself) at this university or other universities.

Deadlines for assignments are strict. Late arrivals (up to 5 days) will be penalised (25% off the final mark), unless they are duly justified.

Extra-credit material carried out by the students during the course could be awarded up to an extra 5% of the final mark. This can include voluntary work, alternative readings, voluntary participation in forums or any other activity proposed and accepted by students and teachers.

The students who do not attend the official exam will be given a grade of NP (absent) if they have not handed in the supervised paper or the portfolio.

The dates for the supervised projects, oral presentation and mixed objective tests will be announced well ahead of time.

July opportunity: Those students with less than a 4 in each of the parts specified above (even if the average is superior to 5) will have to sit for the "second opportunity exam session" in July, where students can retake those parts they have failed, according to the following distribution of percentages: Supervised project (30%), mixed test (60%) and face-to-face assignment related to the contents of the portfolio (10%).

Students sitting the December exam (final exam brought forward) will be assessed according to the criteria specified for the July opportunity.

Students who are officially registered as part time, and have been granted permission not to attend classes, as stipulated in the regulations of this University, will be assessed in either of the opportunities according to the same criteria specified for the second opportunity. If they wish to present their portfolio, the teacher will indicate which tasks they can complete during the course.

This module can be adapted to students who need support for their particular situation (physical, visual, auditory, cognitive, learning process, or related to mental health). If necessary, students should contact the services available in UDC/in their school or faculty, or the Unidade de Atención á Diversidade (ADI) at the beginning of each academic semester in the timeframe officially established (<https://www.udc.es/cufie/adi/apoioalumnado/>); alternatively, they can contact the ADI tutor in the Faculty of Philology at the following address: pat.filologia@udc.gal).

Gender equality: I will incorporate a gender perspective into this subject. This will include, among other measures, the use of non-sexist language, the selection of books and articles written by men and by women, as well as encouraging participation from all students in class, regardless of their gender. I will also try to identify and address sexist prejudices and attitudes and will actively work towards the modification of this environment and the promotion of values of respect and equality. In the event of gender discrimination, appropriate actions will be implemented to rectify such cases.

Very active participation in the different class activities, as well as all the extra-credit material carried out by the students during the course, could be awarded up to an extra 5% of the final mark. This can include voluntary work, alternative readings or any other activity proposed and accepted by students and teachers.

This can include voluntary work, alternative readings or any other activity proposed and accepted by students and teachers.

July opportunity: Those students who are absent from or fail the official examination session or those with less than a 4 in each of the parts (even if the average is superior to 5) will have to sit for the "second opportunity exam session" in July, where students can retake those parts they have failed.

Details for the second opportunity requirements will be posted on Moodle before the exam period begins.

Students who are officially registered as part time, and have been granted permission not to attend classes, as stipulated in the regulations of this University, will be assessed in either of the opportunities according to the same criteria specified for the second opportunity.

ADI is a university office specialised in attending to members of the university with special needs due to disability or other differentiating situations with regard to the rest of the community. Students can talk to Dr. Ana Veleiro for more information, or contact ADI directly at <http://www.udc.es/cufie/uadi/>, or by phone ext. 5622, or via email: adi@udc.es

The assignments showing signs of plagiarism will be marked with a 0.

The students who do not attend the official exam will be given a grade of NP (absent) if they have not handed in more than 50% of the continuous assessment activities.
