General description	It is intended to guide the students in the practice of informed and reflection in the discovery of news questions that allow them to objectify some of the social elements that contribute to the spread of culture considered common, and to take conscience of the degree of coercion and/or consent of the social relations on the basis of the gender variable. Will defend the need to hijack this theoretical framework-critical, historical partner, for the design and development of social projects really coeducativos, that is, to provide reasons on the urgent need to incorporate feminist knowledge to professional practice and also to everyday life, and thus help to reduce the different gender gaps and to walk toward more inclusive societies and fair

Contingency plan

Contingency plan (adapted from addendum Covid19):

1. Modifications to the contents: no changes will be made

2. Methodologies

Teaching methodologies that are maintained:

-Analysis of documentary sources

Directed Discussion

-Master session

-Pupil's portfolio

-Initial activities

- Personalized attention

Teaching methodologies that are modified: no changes will be made

3. Mechanisms for personalized attention to students:

-Email: Used to make queries, request virtual meetings to resolve doubts and monitor exercises in classes and the portfolio

- Moodle: According to the need of the lighting. They have "thematic forums associated with the modules" of the subject, to formulate the necessary consultations. There are also "specific activity forums", through which the development of theoretical contents of the subject are put into practice.

- Teams:

a) weekly session in a large group to advance the contents and activities in the time slot assigned to the non-calendar subject approved by the academic commission of the master's degree and approved by the Xunta de Faculty (planned for face-to-face students)

b) 1 to 2 weekly sessions (or more as demanded by the students) in a small group for follow-up and support in carrying out the activities. This dynamic allows to make a normalized and adjusted pursuit of the learning needs of the student to develop the subject (planned for the student body)

4. Changes in evaluation: no changes will be made

Comments:

a) The presence of the students will only be controlled in the classes of the subject through the realization of the activities. Late-night students are considered to be in attendance as long as they attend classes; they can only be absent three times (without justification). Students may present proof of absence from class, as long as they are doctors, working doctors, hospital staff, etc., but they must be approved (they may not, for example, request a doctor's appointment, etc.). The main resource used to control student attendance will be the Moodle, where the activities will take place.

b) Students who are not attending classes and online students can follow the subject through Moodle, although they will not be able to participate in the activities (activities are prepared for this type of student) or late-night classes called by TEAMS. Students will be considered as non-presential students those who, given a new situation of confinement, at that moment would have chosen that option (on the first day of class) or would have already overcome the three absences in total (or in some of the parts of the subject); in this last option the students would automatically pass the this modality. The evaluation of this student body will be maintained as stated in the Teaching Guide, in the specific section on "observations". Online late-night students are those who opt for this situation when registering for the subject.

c) The classes maintain the working group format specified in the Teaching Guide, whether they are in the face-to-face or virtual mode. The work groups will be created by TEAMS, which will be the means through which the activities will be monitored by the teaching staff (these late-night classes always in the schedule approved by the academic committee of the master's degree and approved by the Xunta de Faculty). Only for students who attend the classes.

d) The evaluation of the subject will be virtual (due to health circumstances) and the same weighting of the grades will be maintained, regardless of the teaching modality. It will be as follows: activities will be within each class (in this case, at the end of the class by moodle). The activities will not be enabled until classes begin; this material will be presented within the portfolio and will be posted in Moodle on the date established by the teachers on the first day of class. It is important to remember that the student must present each of the forms of evaluation to overcome the subject, and that is, must do all the activities planned by the teachers of each module and the portfolio. The students will have to do only the portfolio and the activities planned by the teachers responsible for each module (this student must communicate in the first classes with the teachers in charge of each module)

e) Tutorials on the subject will be individual and virtual. Students will have to request an appointment with the teaching staff via e-mail. VERY IMPORTANT, THE TUTORIALS WILL ALWAYS BE WITHIN THE TIMETABLE PRESENTED BY THE TEACHER GIVING THE MATERIAL.

5. Modifications of the bibliography or webgraphy: no changes will be made.

Methodologies
Methodologies	Description
Document analysis	The object of the documentary analysis are the programs and actions of educational and vocational guidance aimed at different groups and contexts
Directed discussion	After the reading and analysis of a current scientific text, a discussion will take place on the different argumentative perspectives. This methodology will only be used by face-to-face students
Guest lecture / keynote speech	The master class will be used for the presentation of some contents. Previously, with the aim of facilitating its monitoring, the power point presentation will be provided through moodel. If the classes, due to the health crisis, are virtual, these presentations will be presented in moodle with power point with recorded voice. This methodology is only for students in attendance
Student portfolio	Students in attendance, not in attendance and online must present the portfolio in which they must include the activities proposed by the teachers of the subject. The portfolio will be delivered through moodel on the dates specified for the first or second opportunity
Introductory activities	The initial activities allow the identification of the students' previous knowledge on the topics addressed and the areas of co-educational intervention of their interest. Only for students in attendance. If due to the health crisis the classes are virtual, these activities will be by moodle

Methodologies	Description

Document analysis	In the personalized attention the teachers will solve the doubts that the students have about the different topics to work on.
Introductory activities	During these sessions, students' work will be monitored, supervising and guiding more directly the process to be followed in each of the activities carried out. This personalized attention will be given in the teachers' office during the tutorial schedule.
Directed discussion	This schedule is posted in moodle
Student portfolio	PERSONALISED CARE WILL BE CARRIED OUT ON A VISIT BETWEEN STUDENT AND TEACHER. THIS CARE MUST BE INDIVIDUAL (TO COMPLY WITH THE RECOMMENDATIONS ORIGINATED BY THE COVID-19). THEY CAN BE GROUPED BUT THROUGH TEAMS (these for the students in attendance) TO BE ABLE TO ORGANIZE THIS ATTENTION. The STUDENT MUST FIRST COMMUNICATE WITH THE PROFESSOR via EMAIL (IN THAT EMAIL YOU WILL REQUEST AN INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP TUTORING). REMEMBER THAT THE PROFESSORY WILL SET THE TUTORING SCHEDULE. IF THE STUDENT

Assessment comments
---------------------

In the evaluation of the subject (explained in the section of the teaching guide called "Step 7: Evaluation") the following will be taken into account first:

a) STUDENTS WHO ALWAYS ATTEND THE CLASS (or students with academic dispensation) (students in attendance) are considered to attend 80%, this is equivalent to not having more than 3 unjustified absences. Medical absences are justified (with proof correctly covered by a registered doctor) and absences for work (with proof correctly covered in the work where it is justified that in class hours is being worked) or #any other absence always with the approved documentation. Class attendance will be counted by the teaching staff in person, only virtually by moodle because of the health crisis. It is not possible to have more than two absences in each part of the subject (collection techniques and analysis techniques).

The evaluation of these students takes into account only the portfolio

Explanatory note:

These students will remain face-to-face (in the same circumstances or lose this category) if, due to the health crisis, the classes are virtual. Since classes are always virtual through teams. For this link, the faculty will configure the group in teams and they will have classes in the same schedule that was approved by the faculty board. The evaluation, in these circumstances (health crisis), will always be by the portfolio

b) STUDENTS WHO DO NOT ATTEND THE CLASS (non-attendance students) OR ONLINE STUDENTS are considered to be absent when more than 80% are absent, that is to say, they have more than three unjustified absences, or they have more than two absences in one of the parts of the subject (techniques for collecting and/or analyzing information). Medical absences are justified (with proof correctly covered by a registered doctor) and absences for work (with proof correctly covered in the work where it is justified that in class hours work is being done), although in no case will these proofs imply the possibility of carrying out the activities of the classes after the deadline. Students may also choose this option from the beginning of the course, since they will be registering online. These students will present a specific portfolio that will be explained in each module of the subject. At the beginning of the course, these students must contact the teachers responsible for each module individually.
